It was overall a good quality yarding at this week's Mudgee Fat Sheep and Lamb sale, with numbers lifting to 427 head from 285 head at the previous yarding. Buyer attendance remained strong, with regular processors and restockers active throughout the sale. While the increased supply provided buyers with greater selection, competition remained solid for heavy, well-finished stock, with secondary lines attracting more selective bidding.

Crossbred lambs made up the majority of the offering and continued to sell to a firm market. Although the top price eased marginally to $362/head, from $365/head at the previous sale, competition remained strong for heavy trade and export lambs. Better-finished lines continued to attract excellent processor support, while lighter and plainer lambs sold to more variable rates. Dorper and Merino lambs were offered in limited numbers and sold to mixed competition.

The hogget market improved on the previous sale, with Crossbred hoggets reaching $328/head, reflecting strong demand for quality heavy hoggets. Limited numbers ensured keen competition from processors and restockers alike.

Mutton quality was generally good, with a larger offering of crossbred and Merino ewes.

Crossbred ewes sold to $258/head, while Merino ewes reached $194/head. Heavy Merino sheep topped at $200/head, and Crossbred wethers sold to $300/head.

Overall, the market remained solid. Heavy, well-finished sheep and lambs continued to command strong prices, while secondary and lighter conditioned stock experienced more selective competition.
